SUFFRAGE BILL.

Democratic Leaders Oppose Expedient of Disfranchising Negro.

SOME FRANK CAUCUS TALK INDICATES BILL WILL NOT PASS.

The special Frankfort correspondent of the Louisville Herald tells of a Democratic conference Monday night at which the Heflin Suffrage bill was discussed, and concludes that no drastic suffrage measures will be passed at this session.

The Heflin bill is the one with the educational qualification for illiterate negroes and the ancestral clause to save the illiterate whites.

The Herald says:

After the bill had been read, Representative Paul Heflin arose and began a speech in behalf of the bill by saying:

"I introduced this bill to disfranchise the illiterate negroes of this state. I believe that every Democrat will be glad to vote for it."

"We have a legal and moral right to disfranchise the illiterate, and then enfranchise those whose ancestors were voters in 1867."

Rainey T. Wells (Dem.), from Calloway, in the Gibralter Democratic district, next spoke. He said that the Heflin bill was morally wrong.

"Negroes are enfranchised under the Federal Constitution. They are citizens. If it was a mistake to enfranchise negroes, it does not devolve on us to disfranchise them."

"When Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence he said that all men were created free and equal. He meant not that they were equal socially. He meant politically. I do not believe in social equality, but I say with Shakespeare, 'God made him, therefore let him pass for a man.' It is unjust to abridge the rights of any man, white or black."

Taxation Without Representation.

"You propose to tax the negro without giving him representation. That question was settled rightly when Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown. I believe that the United States Supreme Court will hold this bill unconstitutional. The Federal Constitution guarantees to every citizen the right of suffrage."

Discussing the bill politically, Mr. Wells declared that if the amendment was adopted, it would mean ultimate defeat for the Democratic party.

We Have the Machinery.

Thomas Drewry, of Louisville, offered a resolution that the committee report as a substitute for the Heflin bill a bill providing an amendment to return to the viva voce system of voting.

"In 1897 the Democratic party won by 18,000. The party then passed an election law which almost demolished the party. History is about to repeat itself."

"The time has not come when Democrats, flushed with victory, should resort to such measures as this. We are in power, and we have possession of the machinery."

(Applause and laughter followed the frank statement.)

"Well, it's the truth, gentlemen. We certainly have the machinery," continued the speaker.

Platform in CANVAS.

Mr. Edwards, of Louisville, asked Drewry if he did not make his canvas on a promise to support measures to disfranchise the negroes.

"Aye," replied Drewry, "all of us did."

"I have not changed my mind," said Edwards.

"Wise men sometimes do," replied Drewry, and his ready answer provoked loud applause.

E. E. Barton spoke for the Heflin bill, declaring it constitutional.

Negro No Danger.

Eli H. Brown opposed the Heflin bill on the ground that it was dangerous and was not necessary, as Democrats never lost any fight by the negro vote.

"Each time Democrats have changed the election laws they have suffered. Changing from the viva voce system was a mistake. The enactment of the Gobell law was a mistake."

Mr. Brown declared that the disfranchisement of negroes was expedient only in States having a majority of negroes.

SUFFRAGE BILL KILLED

Resolution to Postpone Action indefinitely is passed.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 2.—The Heflin suffrage bill, designed to disfranchise the negro voters, was killed in the House today by the adoption of a motion by Mr. Blair, of Lexington, to postpone action upon it indefinitely. The motion was adopted, without discussion, by a vote of 47 to 42. The Republican members at first decided to vote against the motion with a view to putting the Democrats on record by getting the bill upon its passage, but several changed their minds and voted no.

Smallpox at Crofton.

Mr. D. H. Glover, who lives about a mile and a half from Crofton died last Friday morning of smallpox. The disease is said to have been brought to that neighborhood by Barney O'Neil and family who recently moved there from Colorado. Mrs. O'Neil is a daughter of Mrs. Glover and was the first to show signs of having the smallpox. She was soon followed by her husband, child and mother, Mr. Glover being the last one to contract the disease. All the cases with the exception of Mr. Glover's were mild.

It is also stated that Mrs. M. Long, who lives a short distance from the Glover homestead, has the disease. The board of health has vaccinated as many people throughout that section as possible and everything is being done to prevent the spread of this dreadful disease.

FIRE AT MADISONVILLE.

Burns Eastside Hotel and Reinecke Coal Company Office.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WINDOWS DESTROYED.

Fire broke out in the Eastside Hotel Friday morning at 8 o'clock and before it could be gotten under control had destroyed the hotel and a one story building that was occupied by the Reinecke Coal Company for office purposes.

The Cumberland Presbyterian church, which adjoins the hotel building, was damaged to the extent of over $1,500 by fire and water.

The handsome memorial windows on the south side of the church were burned out and considerable damage done to the ceiling before the flames could be extinguished.

The hotel was a large two story frame structure, owned by Dr. R. P. Drake and run by J. P. Bennett as a hotel and boarding house.

Nearly all the fixtures and papers were saved from the offices of the coal company. There was no insurance on the church and but little on the other building.

Platform in CANVAS.

Mr. Edwards, of Louisville, asked Drewry if he did not make his canvas on a promise to support measures to disfranchise the

WAS MOONSHINE.

Alleged Volcano on Sugar Loaf Mountain in Rowan County Dissipated

BY ARREST OF ILLICIT DISTILLERS.

Owingsville, Ky., Jan. 29.—Deputy United States Marshal Castle, of Carter county, made a raid on moonshiners in the neighborhood of Sugar Loaf mountain, Rowan county, and arrested Presley Crow, and John Hildebrand, charged with violating revenue laws. This capture confirms the theory the smoke which comes from Sugar Loaf mountain, and which was thought to be a volcano, was really caused by moonshiners operating their plant.

WILLIAM COLLIER WANTS TO SUCCEED HIS FATHER

Gone to Washington to Ask Appointment as Pension Agent.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of Coal Men Held in Louisville. Col. E. G. Schree Presides.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 1.—William Collier has gone to Washington to present to President Roosevelt his indorsements to succeed his father, the late Gen. Daniel Ray Collier.

Mr. Collier is one of fourteen candidates in the field. No selection will be made until the President can confer with Republican leaders here. Gen. Basil Duke says he will take no part toward influencing the selection.

EDITORS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Executive Committee of the National Editorial Association in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Feb. 3.—The executive committee of the National Editorial Association met at the Southern Hotel on January 27 to complete arrangements for the meeting of the association in May. The May meeting will be in conjunction with the International Press Congress during the week of May 16. On that occasion representative editors from many countries of the world will be assembled and the entire week will be given up to the entertainment of the editorial guests. Special programs are being prepared for each day. Many state editorial associations will meet at the World's Fair at the same time and distinguished American editors in large numbers will attend, making the congress the largest and most important meeting of editors ever held.

The forty members of the National Association's Executive Committee visited the World's Fair grounds on the afternoon of the 27th and found the principal Exposition buildings complete and ready for the installation of exhibits, which has already begun.

Cumberland Telephone Company File Condemnation Suits in Kentucky.

A suit was filed last Saturday in the county court by the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph Company against the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Louisville and Nashville railroads, says a Paducah dispatch, to condemn land along the former route through McCracken, Marshall, Graves and Caloway counties for a telephone line. It is the first action of the kind ever filed in Kentucky, and is to test the constitutionality of the law granting telephone companies right to condemn land and also to bring suit in one county to condemn in another county.

Burnt Out at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 29.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Dupont warehouse early this morning. B. F. Avery & Co., plows; the Metalware Manufacturing Company, and the National Metal & Machine Company lessees, were the principal losers. The total estimated loss on building and contents is $80,000.

George Hobart fell into the river from his shanty boat and was saved after a fierce struggle at Louisville.

LIEUT. GEN. CHAFFEE FAVERS WEST POINT.

Prospects the Best for Permanent Military Camp in Kentucky.

Washington, Jan. 29.—While the chances heretofore in favor of the selection of West Point, Ky., as the site for a permanent military camp have been excellent, they were vastly improved today by a recommendation made by Lieut. Gen. Chaffee, the head of the army and chief of the general staff. The General, in a report submitted to Secretary Root this afternoon, urges him to ask Congress for an appropriation of $2,000,000 for the purchase of four permanent sites. He specifies the locations, which, in his judgment, should be chosen, and one of these is West Point. His recommendation in favor of the Kentucky site is as strong as could be desired, and there is no reason whatever now why the West Point project should not be consummated.

ANNUAL MEETING

Of Coal Men Held in Louisville. Col. E. G. Schree Presides.

The coal operators of Kentucky held their annual meeting in Louisville last week. Col. E. G. Schree of the St. Bernard Mining Company presided. Twenty men representing about forty companies were present. The character and volume of trade during the past year were discussed and also the prospects for the year 1904. The reports which were submitted to the meeting proved conclusively that the volume of coal produced in the state for the year 1903 was the largest in the history of the mining industry of Kentucky.

A large number of new mines were opened during the year and the mines which had been in operation formerly largely increased their capacity. The transportation accommodations while not as good as desired showed great improvements over the year 1902.

The question of prices and all features connected with the financial operations of the coal companies were not discussed as the meeting did not embrace that side of the industry.

BUSINESS BOOMING.

On the Henderson Division of the L. & N. New Switch Engine for Earlington.

Business on the Henderson Division of the L. & N. was never in better condition and the prospects for the year 1904 are flattering. On Wednesday night there were 11,000 tons of freight in the Earlington yard to be moved north and south. This is a larger amount of freight tonnage than was ever before in the yard at one time. Another switch engine has been put on at Earlington, making three engines now in use at this place, and they are all kept busy making up trains, pulling the loads from the various mines and supplying them with empties.

Burnt Out at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 29.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Dupont warehouse early this morning. B. F. Avery & Co., plows; the Metalware Manufacturing Company, and the National Metal & Machine Company lessees, were the principal losers. The total estimated loss on building and contents is $80,000.

World's Fair Commission.

Will Organize at Louisville Today, Mr. Ford Presiding.

Gov. Beckham has called a meeting of the World's Fair Commissioners to convene at Kentucky Exhibit headquarters today. Mr. A. Y. Ford, president of the Exhibit Association will preside and will doubtless be chosen president of the Commission. R. E. Hughes will be secretary.

AWFUL FATE

Of Vernon Egbert—Was Burned to Death While in Jail at Dawson Springs.

WAS UNDER INFLUENCE OF WHISKY.

Vernon Egbert, a young man who lived near Dalton this country met an awful death at Dawson Springs Saturday night by being burned to death while confined in jail for drunkenness.

It seems the unfortunate young man went to Dawson early in the day and took several drinks of whisky during the day finally becoming so much intoxicated that it was necessary for night watchman Arch Ligon to arrest him and place him in the city lock up. He was carried to the jail and placed in bed by the officers who made a fire in the stove and as the night was cold left his cell door open so that he could get near the fire and keep comfortable during the night. It is stated that the night watchman went to the jail several times during the night and replenished the fire and on his last visit he made a good fire that would last until morning. On going to the jail the next morning he was horrified to find the charred and blackened remains of the unfortunate young man who had in some manner fallen against the red hot stove and burned to death. Coroner Stevens of Madisonville was summoned and held an inquest over the remains Sunday in accordance with the above facts and the officer was exonerated from any blame in connection with the sad affair.

The victim was a young man about twenty-seven years old and was a son of Mr. Fight Egbert, near Dalton. He bore a good reputation and his only fault was an over-indulgence in liquor at times. The parents and relatives of the young man have the sympathy of the entire county in their distress.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.*(First Session.)

Senate.—The time of the senate, on the 28th, for the consideration of bills to set up speeches on the attitude of the United States toward the Panama revolution, was adjourned sine die, so far as that the discussion also had no reference to the information called for by the senate. The debate was opened by Mr. Curtis, and continued by Mr. Morris, Gorman and Bacon, on the democratic side of the question, and by Mr. Teller, Tamm and Lodge, on the republican side. At 10 o'clock, when the debate had been adjourned for an hour was entertained by a speech by Adam Bede, a recent member from Mississippi, who made his maiden effort and won spurs. His remarks were full of wit, humor, as well as serious thought. Now and then he would pause and say, "I will tell a story that greatly amused the audience." There was also a discussion on the subject of the Panama Canal and the race problem in the south.

Senate.—The senate, on the 28th, adopted a resolution to set up a committee for the democratic cause, which the senate has been supplied with all the facts bearing on the controversy of Panama. The committee was directed to make such arrangements that notwithstanding the modification of the bill, the same would be sent to the senate. The bill was then laid over for execution, and at 3 o'clock adjourned. House.—The house considered whether members of Congress should be allowed to receive two payments of mileage for senators and members of the house, and for members of the extra session, which opened during the regular session. A point of order was raised by Mr. Tamm, that the bill overrode a previous bill, and that there was no authority of law for a second application of the same. The motion was carried, and the bill was struck out. The deficiency bill, the provisions for the second session, was then passed.

The house, on the 28th, passed the unamended bill, striking out the unnecessary deficiency bill, the provisions for the second session, and the bill for the compensation of members of Congress, and the action was the climax to an exciting discussion of the mileage problem begun on the 26th. An amendment was introduced against the provision by Mr. Maddox, of Mississippi, that the mileage be paid out, made by Mr. Underwood of Alabama. An amendment was introduced against the provision of a mileage to the treasury was agreed to by Mr. Underwood, and the bill was then adopted without opposition. The bill was then unanimously cheered. The interest in the question was shown in the few absences. The bill passed the house, and was referred from the committee of the whole.

The cause of the killing was his suit for divorce, alleging his marriage was unjustly forced upon him by her father and brother with revolvers.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—At the Samaritan hospital, her head and left side swathed in bandages, lies Carrie Anderson, the child whose deed of heroism at the Iroquois fire was recounted in brief during the coroner's inquest, but which some have never learned until now.

Through the steadfast bravery of this 14-year-old girl, at least fifty lives were saved on the fatal afternoon. She was, however, the fact that her mother, who had been in the building when the flames caught the end of the ladder thrown across the alley from the Northwestern University building and guided it to a firm resting place on the fire escape of the second balcony.

Across this ladder many women and children were screaming for safety.

She was in the balcony with her mother, who was employed as a cleaner at the theater, and while she escaped, her mother perished. The child does not know yet that her mother is dead.

HER REMOVAL FROM AYLESBURY A PRELIMINARY PROCEDURE.

It Seems Probable That She Has Been Taken to a Friend Home, Where She Will Be Prepared for Re-Entry to the United States Fifteen Years Ago.

London, Feb. 2.—Further investigation confirms the announcement made by the authority of the United States embassy here, that Mrs. Florence Maybrick has not been released. Though her exact whereabouts has not developed, it is certain that she is still a prisoner. A letter received in London, dated January 28, from the baroness de Roques, dated from her residence in France, January 28, said she had just returned to France after visiting her daughter in Aylesbury prison. The baroness added that she saw no possibility of her release before July 1, and all reports to the contrary are absolutely false.

Though the letter was written to a most intimate friend, no mention was made by the harness of any removal of her daughter from Aylesbury.

Several of Mrs. Maybrick's papers throw doubt on the statement that Mrs. Maybrick has been released, saying that while it is undoubted that she has left Aylesbury prison, she merely has been removed to a prison home for long-sentenced prisoners and kept for a time before they are liberated.

It is added that, in ordinary cases, a prisoner's stay in this home lasts nine months, but that, in Mrs. Maybrick's case, it will last only two months. It is further asserted that the home is situated in Corwall.

THE PICKET AT THE STYX.

An Etherogram indicating that there are Unions Known in all the Worlds With Which We Are Familiar.

(Etherogram from the Elysian Post.)

When Charon discarded his time-honored old scow for a brand new aspasia launch there was a vague feeling of disquiet and apprehension in Elysium. But when, at the substitution of the shade of a labor organizer from Paterson, the old ferryman constituted himself the "Amalgamated Association of the Styx Transfer Workers," we knew that trouble was near. And it has arrived.

Just after going to press last evening we got in touch with the other agitator at the Styxville-On-Earth end of our private line, who said that a shade from Chicago was very anxious to talk to him. I instructed the agitator to switch him on, and this is what followed:

"Say, is this the Editor of the Post? Well, I appeal to you as a fellow American to help me out. I'm from Chicago; got here about a week ago with more certified credentials than a shade ever had on this side the Styx, but I can't get across. I thought I had learned the strength of a union barbed-wire fence while I was on earth, but, believe me, nothing I ever encountered there was a patch on the long-whiskered patriarch who runs this Styxlineferry.

"And I reflect that I spent the last six months of my life and a good part of my fortune in preparing for just such an emergency as this; it makes me hot under the collar. You see I was one of those helpless cases attacked by an irate maday, you know. Doctor d I couldn't live long and that I'd die before another world.

If you lived in Chicago just now you'd know that that meant an appeal spiritual. I knew it would be

"Inexplicably easy matter squarnegotiate with the church, but that

"I'd have a long trip between ex-

"I also knew that every inch of this tu was had been unionized.

"So, being a practical man, I took

"The Doctor's warning in a practical

"May. I began joining unions. I started out with the druggist's or"ganization—to be sure about my iedolines; then followed, as fast as "I could be initiated, with the coffin-liners', shroudstitchers', hearse-evers', pall-bearers', mourners', emetary employees' and gravedig-

"ers' unions.

"Next I hired a union lawyer to make my will on specially fabricated union parchment with a union pen and union ink, and I had it witnessed by my coachman and domestic both amalgamated. In this document I specified to the slightest detail just how I should be prepared for burial.

"My instructions were followed to the letter, and I heard it remarked during the obsequies that never had a union label so figured at a funeral, never did a corse wear such a brilliant array of union badges and buttons. Everybody considered I had a complete cinch, a straightforward course from the last breath to angelic pinnation.

"You may imagine that it was with considerable pride, then, that I arrived at this end of the ferry line and proceeded to get friendly with Old Charon. And as I put me through my facings I could see that he was inclined to regard me with mixed deference.

"I handed the old man a union cheetot and was just stepping aboard when the shade of a union picket arrived and gave Charon the password. Charon introduced us and I noticed the picket draw back his hand and give a slight start at mention of my name. Then he took Charon to one side, whispered a dozen words in his ear, and it was all off with me.

"All Charon's friendliness had vanished. He looked past me and through me, but not at me. I was a complete stranger. Why? Simply because it had been discovered after my burial that one of the union rivets in the union shovel with which the union grave diggers had fashioned my earthly union house had been fastened with a base, non-rusting washer.

"The picket permitted Charon to inform me that there was no use hanging about the landing any longer, for until I could show an unbroken record of unionism I never could ride on union ferry. He intimated that I might go back and try it all over again, and perhaps correct my serious blunder, but that a 'scab' washer was quite large enough to keep me from rambling in the Elysian fields.

"Can you suggest any other course for me? Surely after a man has died once and taken all the precautions I did he ought to be entitled to get into even a unionized heaven."

"We sat silent for a few days longer. Elysium had not been unionized yet, and the Post will leave no stone unturned to get this shade over the Styx.

"Already we have appointed an expert commission to make an investigation and to suggest methods. And if it is necessary as a last resort the Post will establish a competing 'scab' ferry line across the Styx and cut prices to the bone. We'll drive Charon out of business.

This instance of extreme union arrogance has revived the old scheme of throwing a steel bridge across the river and dispensing with the ferry altogether. This union ferry business has caused trouble enough. It must go—McE. in the Chicago Evening Post.

Hello Gals! get Bald.

A large proportion of telephone girls employed by the big companies in New York give up their places rather than incur the risk of becoming partly bald, says a New York paper. This effect of the steel band or hood which telephone operators wear over their head is mainly noticeable in the case of those who have scanty hair. On boys who act as telephone operators it is even more noticeable than with girls. One boy who operates a switchboard in a large office in Manhattan is entirely bald in a round sunning from one side of his head to another. He has been at the telephone switchboard for two years and now wears a cushion underneath the steel hood to protect his head from the pressure.

Classical Cures.

The influence of climatic conditions in the course of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient, and the rich patient, too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular use of German Syrup. Free expectation in the morning is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to the disease is the greatest damage of the consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup regularly and regularly.

For those who are able to get online, you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there the few who are benefited by the strength are those who use German Syrup. Trial bottles, 26c; regular size, 75c.

SOME FACTS ABOUT WHISKY.

(From the Prohibition Year Book for 1904.)

Last year you drank 140 gallons of alcoholic stimulants—or, if you didn't you failed to drink your share of the total amount consumed by the people of the United States.

In 1870, according to the Chicago Tribune, the consumption of alcoholic liquors per capita in the United States was 10.09 gallons. In a little over thirty years it nearly doubled, now amounting to 19.8 gallons.

This is one of the more or less startling facts set forth in the American Prohibition Year Book for 1904, just published. Other figures and statements, all of them suggestive and some of them appalling, are quoted from the same source.

In Illinois, where local option prevails and high license is the rule, the average savings bank deposit per capita is $20.75. In Maine, under Prohibition, the average per capita of savings deposits is $108.75. From these figures the Prohibitionists argue that even from a purely monetary standpoint total abstinence

RAILWAYS IN ENGLAND.

Operated Under a Variety of Conditions—Compared with American Lines Systems.

It is not easy for an American railroad man to conceive of the conditions existing in the British Islands. English railroads systems total over 12,000 miles, of which 12,000 miles is the property of 250 companies, more than half of which have their separate administration and executive, states a railway journal. The others are "leased and worked." Allowing an average of eight directors and managers to each of the 250 independent companies, the English railways support 1,900 directors, whose fee can hardly be less than $1,250 a year each.

The railroads of India cover about 22,000 miles. Yet Thomas Robertson, the expert, whose recently reported to the British government on Indian railway administration, says that the task of supervising the lines of that vast country might safely be intrusted to a single director, who would be assisted by a secretary, a chief inspector and a number of inspectors. Three experts with a small staff are considered by Mr. Robertson capable of performing the duties of about the same character as those for which the English are responsible. The 250 directors, with their secretaries and assistants, accountants, auditors, clerks, messengers, etc.

If only the sum of $1,250,000 paid away annually in fees to railroad directors and managers were available, it would be possible to attract the ablest men by offering the largest known salaries and yet make a saving.

The saving by "standardization" is also to be considered. The Harriman roads, 17,000 miles, are to be reorganized so that a number of rolling stock will be interchangeable.

The consolidation of American roads has gone much farther than to Britain. The Vanderbilt and Pennsylvania systems contain about 20,000 miles each, and the two together have 40,000 miles, or about 22,000 miles of all England. And though the individual roads in these systems have in some cases their separate boards, they usually consist of practically the same men. Many important lines are also consolidated.

During the last thirty years there died in Europe alone of alcoholism a total of 7,500,000 people. That is more people than were killed in all the wars of the nineteenth century.

The authority for these statements is Matti Hellenius, a member of the faculty of the University of Denmark, who goes on to show that in Denmark one out of every seven men who die between the ages of 35 and 65 is a victim of alcoholism.

There are 100 towns and cities in the State of Iowa but no cities have still Prohibition. All the State of Iowa has 100 cities with still Prohibition. There are 300 Prohibition towns and cities in Wisconsin. Kentucky—wonderful to say—total Prohibition is the law in 47 counties; in 35 there is but one Prohibition town; in 19 counties there are two license towns, each, and in 18 counties license is unrestricted. The whole State of Tennessee is Prohibition except eight cities of 6,000 population and over. North Dakota, Maine and Kansas are the only three States in the Union which are entirely Prohibition.

The highest amount charged yearly for a liquor license is $5,000 in Louisiana. The lowest is $5, charged in the same State. The license fee varies between these two extremes according to the amount of business done.

It is so far from the mainland that the mosquitos which cannot fly a great distance are unable to get over on boats. Dr. Koch would have to fight the insect only as it is bred in the swamps of Brilon.

He desired to test the matter at a place so isolated that it could not be invaded by swarms of the species of mosquito which conveys the microbe of malaria, and contrived to get permission by the Italian government to do so. The location of Brilon, about four miles off the coast of the Irian peninsula, 60 miles south of Trieste, was well situated for his work.

It is so far from the mainland that the mosquito which cannot fly a great distance is unable to get over on boats. Dr. Koch would have to fight the insect only as it is bred in the swamps of Brilon.

He was told to go ahead, and funds were supplied for the work. He laid out the plan of campaign and employed Prof. Froeschl and Dr. Blaudau, of Berlin, to execute it.

His scheme included both the treatment of the sick and the extermination of the carrier of malaria. All patients were isolated in public hospitals. A force of workmen was employed to drain the swamps. The island was placed under thorough sanitary control, and every mudhole or water receptacle that might serve as a breeding place received attention.

The work has met with remarkable success. To all appearance Brilon is now entirely free from malaria.

This result has led the Austrian government to begin an attempt to exterminate the mosquito pest in Lorraine. The stations have been prepared, and a sufficient force to carry out Dr. Koch's methods has been employed.

If the work of these stations is successful, other stations will be established in all parts of Lorraine and Dalmatia which are infested with malarial disease.

In Northern California it is said to be a herm which has the power of revealing one's secrets. It is known as the datum stramonium and has white flowers and rough berries full of dark grains. They are treated of in the current number of "Annals of Hygiene and Comparative Pathology." When one swallow the tea made of the herb will, after failing asleep, tell where his money is hidden and will arise and go direct to where his treasure is concealed.
